

Studies

Assessment of Communication in People with Severe to Profound Intellectual Disabilities: Best Practice Tools and Options

This review examines current approaches and tools used to assess the communication abilities of individuals with severe to profound intellectual disability.

Cancer screening in people with intellectual disability: a scoping review of participation, barriers, facilitators, and improvement strategies within the EUCanScreen initiative

People with intellectual disability (ID) experience significant health inequities, yet evidence on their participation in cancer screening and access to preventive care remains fragmented.

How leadership shapes workplace outcomes for differently-abled employees: a systematic literature review and bibliometric analysis

Leadership constitutes a critical determinant of organizational success, as it facilitates the optimal utilization of organizational resources in the pursuit of institutional mission and vision.

Basic Technology to Support Stimulation Access, Activity, and Correct Posture in Individuals With Intellectual and Multiple Disabilities: Development and Usability Study

People with severe to profound intellectual disability and visual or visual and motor impairments often experience passivity and isolation. This can lead to limited environmental stimulation, reduced physical activity, and the acquisition of incorrect body postures.

Guidance

Supporting vaccination for SEND children and young people

Guidance for schools and parents to support the delivery of the school aged vaccination programmes to children with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND).

Blogs

Finding out how Affinity Trust are using the Working Together Checker

Coproduction means professionals working with people with learning disabilities to do or change something. By professional we mean anyone who works with someone with a learning disability.

News

DNA-CPR orders more likely for adults with profound learning disabilities

Adults with profound or severe learning disabilities are more likely to have controversial do-not-resuscitate (DNA-CPR) orders made against them, according to new findings from the latest edition of the Learning from Lives and Deaths – people with a learning disability and autistic people national report (LeDeR).

Whitefield School: Safeguarding Practice Review Published

In response to the publication of the Safeguarding Practice Review concerning Whitefield School, the CBF highlights the need for the misuse of restrictive practices to be recognised as a child protection issue and for the practice of seclusion to be banned in schools.

Major expansion of community mental health support across England

£343 million plan will open 159 NHS mental health centres in England, giving people earlier local support and specialist crisis care outside A&E.

The Big Conversation on Care: Statement from Member Rep Co-chairs

The Prime Minister Andy Burnham and Baroness Casey spoke last week about their commitment to social care and "fixing the system" so that it gives people dignity, security, and support when they need it most. That it is not a problem too big to solve.

Learning disability charity members become first to master new worm composting course

Pulp Friction, a Nottingham-based charity that empowers people with a learning disability and autistic people to develop their social independence and work-readiness skills, joined forces with the local social enterprise The Urban Worm CIC to trial the first Compost Masters course of its kind.